

Year 6 Becoming Independent Learners!

In Year 6 the current expectation at home each week is that you:

- Complete the weekly homework task posted on a Friday and needs to be completed by the following Wednesday at 9am (no adults sending it later!)
- Read and record in your reading record up to 4 times (at least) a week
- Practise your times tables. Use the website Times Tables Rock Stars to help you learn to recall the facts efficiently using your Chromebook.

We will be posting pre-learning videos for our Maths lessons. These are a great resource to let the children see what lessons are coming up and provide an opportunity for them to think of the knowledge and strategies they already have that can help them.

You could also....

Learn to read at speed read (the last reading SATs test had 3 combined texts which totalled 2168 words!), as you only get 1 hour to read AND answer the questions.	Read a variety of texts – fiction, non-fiction to include magazine, online newspapers, cereal packets – anything as long as you are reading!	Get the adults you live with you to show you different ways of calculating maths problems – you could have a light bulb moment!	Make learning cards, with the new learning you have been taught and display them around your bedroom – or on the back of the toilet door!
Keep a learning diary and write revision notes on all our new learning.	Get the adults you live with to allow you to add up the shopping list or tell them the change needed.	Support the adults who are cooking dinner, telling them the timings needed for the meal. Eg it Takes 45 minutes so take it out of the oven at...	Travel on a bus or a train and read and work out the timetables.
Pack your own school bag, so you know that you have everything before setting off for school.	Do a good deed of the day, maybe give your mum a compliment, pick up some litter or help a friend carry their bags home. You will be amazed how good this makes you feel.	Log into BBC Bitesize and watch and read about items that interest you.	Write a play, a poem, a pop song, a rap, a rhyme for a friend's birthday, a note to a grandparent... be creative.

Thank you for your continued support,
Year 6 Team
